said, "I tell you they'd go mighty good in South Dakota or rural Minnesota."

The main topics for these gatherings was the progress of the war, troop levels and the need for a summit conference probably early next year.

The military regime of Thieu and his vice president-elect, Premier Nguyen Cao Ky, went ahead with elaborate plans for the inauguration while at the same time dismantling some of the machinery of their previous government.

The first institution to go was the Army-Peoples Council, an advisory body with many civilians which was formed to give the military regime a facade of civilian backing.

Thieu had about 200 of the members and guests in the palace today for a brief dissolution ceremony at which he thanked them for their work and asked for future cooperation.

Fulbright Hits at WR Labor View

LITTLE ROCK (AP) — Sen. J. William Fulbright, D-Ark., indicated Saturday that he thought one of Gov. Winthrop Rockefeller's recent remarks about organized labor was "very stupid."

The governor, responding to a news conference question Friday, said he hadn't promised labor a seat on the Arkansas Industrial Development Commission.

"What do I owe them?" the governor continued. "Organized labor didn't support me."

"That is a very stupid — I mean, I wouldn't accept that at all," Fulbright said Saturday.

His audience, about 150 Democrats, responded with applause and laughter.

"Maybe I'd better withdraw the word 'stupid,'" Fulbright said with a grin.

As a matter of human relations, people should help those who support them, Fulbright said. But it is going beyond personal relationships if you refuse to support something wanted by a large segment of the constituency because a majority didn't vote for you, he added.

Fulbright spoke at the first of a series of "leadership luncheons" sponsored by the Young Democrat Clubs of Arkansas and attended by a number of senior party members.

His remarks about Rockefeller's comments were in response to a question from state Sen. Ben Allen of Little Rock. Before he left, Fulbright signed a petition to place on the 1968 General Election ballot a proposed constitutional amendment that would lower Arkansas' legal voting age from 21 to 18.

Proclamation

Mayor Proclaims Poppy Day in Remembrance Of Our War Dead

Mayor Jack G. Gardner has designated November 4, 1967, as Poppy Day 1967 in Hope, Arkansas, according to a special announcement made today.

"The hearts of all our citizens in the Hope area will be with this commendable effort this year as a means of paying tribute to all our war dead," the mayor declared. "This community is fully cognizant of the great contributions and great sacrifices made by the members of the armed forces and on this day each year we have an opportunity of paying our humble respects to those gallant Americans who laid down their lives in order that we may continue to enjoy the blessing of freedom."

"It is also an opportunity for all of us to pay tribute to those brave men and women who still live as victims of the wars," Mayor Gardner pointed out. "The funds collected by the American Legion Auxiliary and all other volunteers are used to aid the many veterans still in hospitals and to assist the fatherless children and the widows of the war dead."

"Poppy Day should be one of solemn remembrance for all of us in Hope, keeping in mind always those courageous souls who laid down their lives in order that we may live in peace and prosperity," Mayor Gardner said. "It constitutes a debt which we can never pay but all of us can, in a small way, show our appreciation by wearing the bright scarlet blossom of remembrance on Poppy Day, November 4, 1967."

Fire Department's Story Told by Cobb

Rotarian Dorsey McRae presented Fire Chief Jim Cobb in another program pertaining to the operation of the city government when the Hope Rotary Club held its meeting last Friday at the Town and Country.

In an informative message Chief Cobb said the budget for his department was $46,925 a year and the money was divided into 25 categories.

The Hope Fire Department operates with 8 regular men and 12 volunteer firemen. It has five pieces of equipment, including a 1940 truck which must be replaced soon. The fire department is not able to show a profit in the usual sense of the word, but it is profitable for all citizens to have a well-equipped, trained, reliable crew ready to go to work for our fire protection at a moment's notice.

It was pointed out that a business with a sprinkler system could get a better insurance rate, and that fire drills and cleanliness are two important factors in preparing a business, home or school against the disaster of fire. A question and answer period followed a talk, and a number of facts were brought out in this way.

President Clyde Fouse was in charge of the business meeting and welcomed the club members and one guest, Bob Moers.

Looking for Adventure in Pacific

PAGO PAGO, Samoa (AP) — "We're not beatniks or hippies," says Los Angeles outdoorsman Bruce Johnson, who's seeking an uninhabited South Sea island on which he and Shari Quam can live like Robinson Crusoe.

"We're just trying to do something real, something meaningful to us," said Johnson, 42, during a weekend stopover at Tutuila, the main island of American Samoa.

"I just want to revert back to nature on islands like the ones I was on during the war. I want to gather my own food, make my own home and in general live like Robinson Crusoe," he said.

He and Miss Quam, 22, planned to fly to Fiji to check out islands on which they might settle.

"We're definitely not decided on any island yet," he continued. "But it must be uninhabited so we can live just as our ancestors did thousands of years ago."

Pope Is Resting Easier

VATICAN CITY (AP) — Pope Paul VI's doctors announced today that after a relapse over the weekend, his fever is going down and he has begun a period of rest to build him up for the operation to correct his prostate ailment.

The tax boost proposal is all but dead for this session of Congress.

Search for Fugitive in Oklahoma

FORT SMITH, Ark. (AP) — The search switched from Fort Smith to Oklahoma City, Okla., today for Dennis Ray McCaslain, 32, of Van Buren, an armed trusty who escaped from Cummins Prison Farm Saturday.

McCaslain previously was identified as being from Jonesboro.

McCaslain, who exchanged about 12 shots with officers at Fort Smith before eluding them, was a trusty in charge of bloodhounds.

Oklahoma City police said they believe McCaslain has a girl friend in the area.

McCaslain was serving a 21-year sentence from Sebastian County for assault with intent to kill. He evaded officers Saturday night after forcing two Pine Bluff men to drive him 200 miles to Fort Smith.

Apprehended Saturday afternoon were Clyde Griffin, 17, and Tony Strader, 18, who had driven off a work detail on a prison tractor.

Clay D. Atkins, 27, who escaped with them, drowned while swimming across the Arkansas River near the prison. His body was recovered from 10 feet of water, about 30 feet from the bank opposite the prison.

Associate Cummins Supt. J. R. Price said McCaslain escaped about an hour and a half before the other three and stole a car from Mr. and Mrs. Willie McDaniels of Dumas, who were fishing from an Arkansas River levee outside the back gate at the north end of the prison farm.

He was armed with a pistol and a high-powered rifle.

Price said McCaslain later accosted Ted Westbrook and John Hooker on Main Street in Pine Bluff and forced them at gunpoint to drive him to Fort Smith, where he fled on foot in the vicinity of a relative's home.

McCaslain's car was found abandoned in Pine Bluff. In it were McCaslain's prison khakis, a rifle and some shells.

Atkins also was serving a 21-year sentence from Sebastian County for assault with intent to kill.

Price said prison authorities who were tracking Atkins and his companions with bloodhounds saw Griffin and Strader climb out of the river. He said officers in the State Police airplane kept the pair in sight until the trackers could cross the river in a boat and capture them. They offered no resistance and said they didn't think Atkins had made it across the river.

Griffin was serving two years from Washington County for grand larceny and Strader two years from Washington County for overdraw.

Cornell Man Wins Nobel Award

STOCKHOLM, Sweden (AP) — The Swedish Academy of Science today awarded the Nobel Prize in physics to Prof. Hans A. Bethe of Cornell University and the chemistry prize jointly to Britons George Porter and Ronald George Wreyford Norrish and German Manfred Eigen.

Bethe was awarded the prize in physics for his contributions to the theory of nuclear reactions and especially his discoveries concerning the energy production in stars.

The British-German trio was awarded the prize for "their studies of extremely fast chemical reactions, effected by disturbing the equilibrium by means of very short pulses of energy," the academy's citation said.

Kidnaps Girl, But Is Captured

CLEVELAND, Ohio (AP) — A young bride held captive over the weekend by a former boyfriend was freed and carried from a suburban University Heights home today.

Lida Caldwell, 19, was carried out of the home and put into an ambulance which sped away.

The girl appeared to be conscious but there was blood on her clothing near the abdomen. A few minutes later, Robert Batch, 23, who held the girl captive at gunpoint, was carried from the house and put into an ambulance.

Batch had splatters of blood on his T-shirt at the chest and appeared unconscious.

University Heights police said both had been shot.

The two were taken to a Cleveland hospital.

1,618 Acres of Timber Burned

LITTLE ROCK (AP) — Fire raged through dense timber areas in South and North Arkansas Sunday, destroying 2,759 acres before firefighters and rain finally extinguished the blazes.

A spokesman for the Arkansas Forestry Commission said there were a total of 53 fires in the state Sunday, most of them in South Arkansas in the Crossett and Monticello areas.

The spokesman said it was believed that someone started the fires in the Monticello area. The spokesman said eight fires were reported in the area and that 903 acres were destroyed.

The largest loss of timber came in the Crossett area where 37 fires destroyed 1,426 acres of timber. Six fires, which destroyed 238 acres, were reported near El Dorado, and 10 fires over a scattered area of North Arkansas burned out another 192 acres.

GIRL SCOUT TROOP 75 ELECTS OFFICERS

Girl Scout Cadette Troop 75 has elected the following officers for the coming year: secretary, Janet McCain, treasurer, Rebecca Stuart, representative, Mary Jane Reynolds, patrol leaders, Barbara Jackson, Mary Jane Reynolds, and Debra Robinson.

The Cadette Troop does baby sitting for members of the Garland School PTA, is progressing on the Social Dependability Challenge, and is doing work toward these badges — Child Care, Games Leader, Player Producer, World Heritage, and Hostess.

A meeting is held each Thursday after school in the Junior High auditorium. Mrs. Howard Jackson is the leader, assisted by Mrs. J. Malt McCauley. At the last meeting plans were made for a Halloween party Monday, October 30 at the Little House in Fair Park.

FRIDAY BRIDGE CLUB MEETS

Mrs. S. L. Murphy and Mrs. Mildred Rogers were guests of the Friday Bridge Club which met with Mrs. C. P. Tolleson on October 27. Bronze mums decorated the setting for the two tables of players.

When scores were tallied, Mrs. Rogers and Mrs. R. C. Whitworth were high. A dessert plate and coffee were served for refreshments.

LADIES BRIDGE-LUNCHEON AT COUNTRY CLUB

Reminders of the Halloween season were seen throughout the Hope Country Club at the Ladies Bridge Luncheon on Oct. 26. A witch, an owl, a pumpkin and colored leaves were attractively arranged at the fireplace, and pretty yellow mums were seen on the serving table.

A delicious potluck lunch, served to 24, had turkey for the main course. Among those present was a guest from Bartlesville, Okla., Mrs. Robert Hinton. After lunch, bridge was played at 4 tables.

High scorer was Mrs. K. G. Hamilton; second high was Mrs. E. P. Young, Jr.; and game prize winner was Mrs. Thomas Hays. Hostesses: Mrs. Jim Lockhart, Mrs. Jon Leim, and Mrs. Herbert Stephens.

Coming, Going

Mr. and Mrs. W. B. Ruggles returned home Saturday from Hohenwald, Tenn., where they attended the funeral for her uncle, Jim Mayberry, who had died the previous weekend in Ft. Lauderdale, Fla.

Mrs. J. D. Turnage, Mrs. T. A. McLeiland, and Mrs. Elsie Cook left Saturday for Washington, D. C., for a week's visit with Martha McLeiland. Mrs. Cook will also visit her two sons there.

The Steve Crain family, Marion, and the John Crain family, Fayetteville, spent the weekend with Mr. and Mrs. Louis Crain and other relatives.

Going to Camden Saturday for a Southwest District Music Club meeting were: Mrs. Sam Strong, Jr., Mrs. Talbot Field, Jr., Mrs. Arch Wylie, Mrs. B. W. Edwards, Mrs. B. C. Hyatt, Mrs. Roy Stephenson, and Mrs. Clarence Gelst.

Mr. and Mrs. Arch Wylie, Mr. and Mrs. Travis Ward, and Mr. and Mrs. Blm McRae attended the Saturday night performance of the "Ice Capades" in Shreveport.

Mr. and Mrs. J. O. Phillips and Mrs. G. D. Fenwick have all returned home to Clovis, N. M., after visiting Mr. and Mrs. T. B. Fenwick, Sr. and other relatives. During their stay the visitors and Mr. and Mrs. Fenwick enjoyed a trip to Mayfield, Ky., and Kentucky Dam.

Mrs. Robert Hinton and two children, Bartlesville, Okla., have been visiting Mrs. Marian Holder and other relatives.

Mary Caston has returned home from a trip to Ft. Lauderdale, Fla., where she went to see Mr. and Mrs. Dave Vick.

Mr. and Mrs. Benton Parsons, Couthatta, La., spent the weekend with Mr. and Mrs. M. S. Bates and Mr. and Mrs. J. P. Caston.

Mr. and Mrs. Charlie Griffin went to Little Rock last Thursday for a business meeting of the Ark. Nursing Home Association.

YOUTH ASKED FOR IT!

This column is for young people, their problems and pleasures, their troubles and fun. As with the rest of Helen Help Us!, it welcomes laughs but won't dodge a serious question with a brush off.

Send your teenage questions to YOUTH ASKED FOR IT, care of Helen Help Us! this newspaper.

SOME NERVE!

Dear Helen: My son thinks he is in love with a woman who lost her husband in Vietnam. She has four children, the baby only a few months old. Her first and only letter to me has me worried. She didn't want my friendship. She seemed to be challenging me. She wrote that no one and nothing can stop her from marrying him, and she expects to live here in MY home — evidently with the four kids — until her man gets a job. (He is now in the Army.)

I haven't heard from my son. He'll be discharged in a month. My little house won't hold six extra people. I don't want to seem like a "managing mama" but I think he should wait until he knows her better . . . and can support her. How do I get this across tactfully? — DISCOURAGED MOTHER

Dear Mother: Why not send him her letter, with a note saying, "Can't do. My house isn't big enough." This woman's plans may surprise your son as much as they surprised you. — H

Dear Helen: This amazes me. I have friends who look sloppy all the time, don't keep the house or the kids up, even forget their lipstick around home; yet their men put them on pedestals, telling them all the time how much they love them.

I try to be neat, look my best for my man's homecoming, am always eager for his love yet all I get is a pat on the back and an occasional "Good girl!" How come? — H. H.

Dear H: Your husband's pat and "Good girl!" probably mean more than a hundred "I love you's" from the expressive fellows. He who says it most often means it least. — H

Dear Helen: I don't ask advice. I simply state the facts.

Three years ago my wife informed me that 25 years was "enough of this foolishness," and from now on it was separate bedrooms. I was 47, she was 44. A year later I met and fell in love with a wonderful woman. I offered my wife our home, debt free, our car, and an annuity to meet her needs the rest of her life. She refused. Her price for my freedom: my business firm. She won't be my wife, but she won't let another woman be.

In a few months my child will be born and there will be a blank space where "father" should be. I know living in adultery is wrong, but I am still a man with normal desires.

The women among your readers who wonder why husbands accept what other women offer should consider that they accept what the legal wife refuses. — SAM

Dear Helen: We have a 19-year-old daughter we can't even talk to. If we say something she doesn't like, she throws a fit, screams, kicks, raves and locks herself in her room. She hasn't always been like this, and she's getting worse. If our younger daughter even touches anything of hers, you can hear her yelling a mile away.

Don't say all girls go through this stage. Our other three didn't. We fear for her, but can't send her to a doctor: she wouldn't go. — PLEASE HELP

Dear P.H.: Of course you can't send a distraught girl to the doctor — but you can take her there yourself. She may be heading for a nervous breakdown. On the other hand, she may simply need to get away from her family. Let the doctor be the judge. — H

Bob Thomas at the Movies

By BOB THOMAS

AP Movie-Television Writer HOLLYWOOD (AP) — The report that James Coburn was shopping for a house in Tangier caused no stir in Hollywood, which has grown accustomed to stars who live in far-off places.

Once upon a time, all the screen luminaries lived here. Most owned homes in Beverly Hills or Brentwood, but a few rustics lived in the outlying reaches of the San Fernando Valley.

The jet age changed that. Today an actor can breakfast in London and be on a Hollywood set that afternoon. The fact that movies are made all over the globe makes it no longer necessary for stars to live within freeway distance of MGM, Warner Bros., etc.

The trend toward decentralization of stars' residences makes life tougher for at least four categories of people:

1. Real estate dealers, who must find other buyers for their properties.
2. Tour bus drivers, who have fewer stars' homes to point out to the rubbernecks.
3. Gossip columnists, who have to scrounge for personalities to write about.
4. Hollywood hostesses, who never know which names will be in town to decorate their parties.

The biggest colony of film personalities is on the desert, where stars can enjoy the quiet life, play golf and tennis in the smogless warmth and return to the studios in a half-hour via air. More and more stars are following the lead of Red Skelton, who comes to Hollywood only for his television show.

Among those who spend a large part of their lives in Palm Springs and its environs: David Janssen, Jack Benny, Bob Hope, Desi Arnaz, Frank Sinatra, William Demarest, Chuck Connors, Phil Harris and Alice Faye. The desert is also a haven for such retired performers as William Powell, Lily Pons, William Boyd — Hopalong Cassidy — Charles Farrell.

Northern California has also attracted stars as a permanent home. Bing Crosby gave up the Hollywood life to rear his second family in Hillsborough. Kim Novak, Jean Arthur and Alfred Hitchcock favor the Monterey Peninsula. John Wayne, Buddy Ebsen and others prefer the nautical life of Balboa Bay, 50 miles south of Hollywood.

NEW YORK (NEA) — "Apple pie with cheese and coffee?" asked the waiter as we were finishing lunch in the clouds atop the Pan Am building.

"No pie for me, thank you," said Jean Nidetch of Weight Watchers.

"But it's very good pie," said the waiter. "The best in New York."

"I'm sure it is," replied Jean, "but I pass out from it. . . I've got a disease. . . I get weak and faint." Symptomatically, the waiter asked "What's it called?" "Phantomia," answered Jean seriously.

Of course, it was an amusingly coined word by Mrs. Nidetch which meant, no pie for me because it puts fat-on-my-thigh.

Jean Nidetch is the dedicated-to-diet dynamo with a never-ending gift of gab who founded Weight Watchers. Besides 112 branches in New York, there are 23 franchised operations in 16 states, one in London and another in Tel Aviv, serving some 15,000 registered members.

Every new member gets a copy of a special diet and at each meeting every member is weighed in privacy with her week's loss or gain recorded on her card that goes to the lecturer.

approval. Our diet is basically the New York City Board of Health Obesity Clinic diet. It consists of three complete meals a day of highly nutritious food," Jean explained. On the high-protein diet fish is required five times a week, and two slices of bread are part of the daily menu.

Since childhood, Jean has been battling the war on weight but she has never described herself as being fat. This compulsive eater who used to hide cookies the way an alcoholic hides liquor excused her 214 pounds as a glandular problem.

She felt that talking with friends about their weight problems, fad diets, pills and cheating would help. After several weeks of true confessions they discovered they were all losing weight.

Word of the gatherings reached city and suburbs and Mrs. Nidetch found her gift of gab parlayed a small group of large women into a coast-to-coast reducing operation.

David 14, and Richard, 9, are very proud of their trim size 12 mother and when Richard introduces a new friend to her he always adds, "She used to be fat."

Fashion Tips

Fashion in Uniforms

Uniforms designed for "women in white" are so beguiling that women in other fields are adopting them, too. Modish professional-type uniforms are created for comfort with lines that do not restrict body movements, whether worn by hospital nurses, beauticians or by other women with active jobs. Three-piece pantsuits, tent dresses and slim culottes are styled along the most fashionable lines and are made of practical machine-washable fabrics.

"There are statistics that 79 million adult Americans are overweight and about 9.5 million of them are dieting at any one time," said Jean.

"We have some basic rules: no crash diets, no pills, no alcohol, no counting calories or skipping meals and everyone must have her doctor's David slew Goliath with a game plan.

David is defensive coach Jim David of the Detroit Lions. Goliath was the San Francisco 49ers.

"Butz was our game plan, and Jim David set it up," Coach Joe Schmidt said Sunday after the Lions shocked the favored 49ers 45-3. "The team gave him the game ball."

The team also gave 49er quarterback John Brodie one of the most miserable afternoons of his National Football League career.

In other NFL games, Baltimore edged Washington 17-13, Philadelphia upset Dallas 21-14, Los Angeles topped Chicago 28-17, the New York Giants surprised Cleveland 38-34, Atlanta stunned Minnesota 21-20 and Pittsburgh edged New Orleans 14-10. Green Bay plays at St. Louis tonight.

The New York Jets outlasted Boston 30-23, Houston beat Buffalo 10-3, Kansas City drubbed Denver 52-9 and Oakland whipped San Diego 51-10 in the American Football League.

"We just didn't protect our quarterback," 49er Coach Jack Christiansen said in a bit of understatement after watching the Lions carry out David's game plan, which must of stretched the bonds of friendship to their limit.

Christiansen, David and Schmidt were teammates during their playing days with the Lions, and until this season David was Christiansen's defensive coach.

Detroit held Brodie to 80 yards passing on nine completions in 29 attempts, threw him four times for a total loss of 39 yards, and intercepted four of his passes, one of which was returned for a touchdown. Brodie also lost the ball once on a fumble, and on another occasion he was penalized for intentionally grounding the ball.

The TD on the interception was scored by Mike Lucet on 31-yard run in the first period as the Lions moved to a 14-3 half-time lead. They then turned the game into a rout after the intermission as they won their third game against three losses and a tie. San Francisco now is 2-1.

Baltimore, 5-0-2, remained the NFL's only unbeaten team when Tom Matte ran seven yards for a TD in the fourth quarter. It was the 16th straight time, including exhibitions, Washington, now 2-3-2, has lost to the Colts.

Philadelphia, 4-3, built up a 21-0 lead and then held off a desperate bid by Dallas, 5-2. The Eagle touchdowns came on Israel Lang's 17-yard run, Norm Sneed's three-yard pass to Gary Ballman and Tom Woodcock's one-yard run. A fumble and an onside kick led to two of the TDs.

Halfback Tommy Mason's 51-yard scoring pass to Bernie Casey clinched the Los Angeles' victory over the troublesome Bears. The Rams, 4-1-2, also got two TD passes from Roman Gabriel, who also scored on a two-yard run, in handing Chicago its fifth loss against two victories.

Scrambling Fran Tarkenton led the Giants, 4-3, past Cleveland by throwing for three TDs and running for one. Frank Ryan also threw three TD passes for the Browns, 4-3, but he took a beating.

Ryan, was scheduled to speak at a luncheon in New York today, but he was ordered home for treatment after a bruise on his right arm, his passing arm, began hemorrhaging.

Linebacker Tommy Nobis played the big role in Atlanta's first victory after five losses and a tie. He set up one TD with an interception and then returned another interception 41 yards for the clinching touchdown. Ron VanderKelen threw two scoring passes for Minnesota, 1-5-1.

New Orleans, 0-7, also appeared headed for its first-ever NFL victory. The Saints were leading 10-7 with just 1:52 remaining, but then rookie halfback Don Shy raced 33-yards for a TD to pull it out for the Steelers, 2-5.

Razorbacks Roll Over Kansas State

By HARRY KING
LITTLE ROCK (AP)—Arkansas Coach Frank Broyles said Sunday that the Razorback players prepared for Saturday night's intercollegiate game with Kansas State like it was the season opener.

The result was a 28-7 victory. "We decided we were going to have to forget about what happened in the first five games," Broyles said. "We decided to approach the game like it was the beginning of a new season."

K-State gave Arkansas a few problems, including a quickie pass to a split receiver, but the Razorbacks no longer seem to be the inexperienced young men of six weeks ago.

Arkansas had been making serious mistakes offensively and had put tremendous pressure on the defense. The Porks lost only one fumble against K-State and the second unit had one pass intercepted.

The defense rose to the occasion when K-State threatened to tie the game in the fourth period. The Wildcats had second and six at the 13 and wound up with fourth and 31.

Starting quarterback John Elchler was injured on Arkansas' second possession but Ronny South's performance was encouraging. The senior, who appears to be rounding into form, hit on seven of ten passes and made two big 16-yard runs.

LITTLE ROCK (AP)—Arkansas Coach Frank Broyles said Sunday that the Razorback players prepared for Saturday night's intercollegiate game with Kansas State like it was the season opener.

The result was a 28-7 victory. "We decided we were going to have to forget about what happened in the first five games," Broyles said. "We decided to approach the game like it was the beginning of a new season."

The defense rose to the occasion when K-State threatened to tie the game in the fourth period. The Wildcats had second and six at the 13 and wound up with fourth and 31.

Starting quarterback John Elchler was injured on Arkansas' second possession but Ronny South's performance was encouraging. The senior, who appears to be rounding into form, hit on seven of ten passes and made two big 16-yard runs.

Arkansas was able to move the ball in critical short-yardage situations by going to its goal-line offense, which includes shifting wingback David Dickey to tailback. Dickey scored three touchdowns from the tailback spot.

The Razorbacks were also able to move the ball because Max Peacock developed as a dangerous split receiver.

"The way South hit Peacock on the sideline cuts was similar to the way (Don) Brittenum used to hit (Bobby) Crockett," Broyles said. "They haven't been double covering our split end and the way Peacock caught the ball will add to our offense."

Peacock, a junior from Stuttgart, caught six passes for 51 yards. He caught two big passes in the Razorbacks' 89-yard touchdown drive against Texas the week before.

Bobcats Play Last 2 Games at Home

By RALPH ROUNTON
Star Sports Writer

After closing out the road schedule last Friday night, the Hope Bobcats return to Hammons Stadium for the season's final two games.

This week the Cats round out the 4-AA slate with the Warren Lumberjacks, and next Friday is the grand finale with the Nashville Scrappers, presently the No. 1 Class A team in Arkansas.

Warren has had a year of ups and downs. Starting out with a fast 2-0-1 mark, the 'Jacks ran into the immovable object at Fairview, and lapsed into a losing string that persisted until Coach Jamie Raper's charges axed Camden 26-0, the week before the Panthers' surprising 0-0 tie with Hope Friday night at Camden.

By that basis of comparison, the Lumberjacks would have to be the favorite, but then throw in the 'Jacks 38-0 loss to Malvern as opposed to the Bobcats 27-0 downfall at the hands of the high-flying Leopards. It all balances out to be an interesting contest.

Those Malvern Leopards chalked up a big intersectional victory last week, soundly thumping the 3-AA Sheridan Yellowjackets 36-7. The upset is compounded by the fact that our 4-AA Leopards broke a 22-game winning streak over three years at Sheridan, who previously was ranked No. 8 in all the state.

Last Thursday night the Hope Bobkittens left 14-6 to Fairview Junior High. The Kittens trailed 14-0 at the half, but scored in the third quarter on a 14-yard pass from Ronnie Massanelli to halfback Danny Putman. The Bobkittens, with a 2-5 record, wrap up the season tomorrow night against once-beaten Magnolia at Magnolia.

Finally, the Hope Junior High "B" Team jaunted to their second win, trouncing the Nashville "B" by a score of 12-0, avenging an earlier 7-2 loss to Nashville. The locals have a 2-1-1 mark against fairly equal opponents.

guard Jim Barnes, who moved to tackle for the injured Ernest Ruple, and Dickey, who has scored eight touchdowns this season.

Broyles had special praise for Barnes for the job he did after moving from guard to tackle," Broyles said. "He wants to win and wants to work. He did a great job."

"We would be remiss if we didn't say something about Dickey," Broyles said. "Every game he's a leader. He's a fine young man. He's a good blocker, pass receiver and runner."

A 34-yard punt return by Trantham set up the Razorbacks' first touchdown. Arkansas moved 49 yards for the touchdown with Dickey going over from the four. Elchler injured his angle on the tenth play of the drive and is probably out for the season.

K-State drove 70 yards to tie it up in the second period. Quarterback Bill Nokild was receiving single coverage. The Razorbacks moved their defensive ends out further in the second half and took the pass away from the Wildcats.

The Razorbacks marched from their own 38 to the K-State five before losing the ball on a fumble. They forced a punt and went 42 yards for their second touchdown.

"This was the encouraging thing," said Broyles. "They were able to turn right around and score."

Trantham set up the third Arkansas touchdown, intercepting a Nosske pass which was deflected by safety Terry Stewart. Trantham returned 11 yards to the Arkansas 42.

The big play in the 58-yard drive was a 16-yard keeper by South off the split-T option series. The defensive end took the fake and South ducked inside to the K-State eight.

Every November Broyles reminds the players they've got to play their four Southwest Conference opponents one at a time. The first of the four is Texas A&M at Fayetteville Saturday afternoon. The Aggies have won three in a row in the conference and are currently the league leaders.

Arkansas A&M quarterback Gary Tate, with a good deal of help from fullback Ronnie Sabatini, pushed the Weevils past State College of Arkansas Saturday night and into the driver's seat in the Arkansas Intercollegiate Conference race.

Tate threw for two touchdowns and ran for another as the Weevils defeated the Bears 27-20. Sabatini pounded out 150 yards on 20 carries and scored one touchdown.

A&M is now 4-0-1 in the league and only SCA, 3-1-1, has a chance to gain a tie. A&M closes its season against Southern State.

Ouachita Baptist University quarterback Bobby Crouch personally extinguished any hopes the Mulenders had for hope of the title. Crouch passed for one touchdown and ran for two others. The score came after Jim Boyers as the Tigers defeated the State College of Arkansas 23-21.

Arkansas Tech had a mathematically seven yards to halfback John Matlack in one touchdown title prior to its game with Bear and ran four yards for another, the Wonder Boys 31-14.

BEAUTY, BEAST DISPLAY FORMS

ATHLETES were literally up in the air at the recent Pre-Olympic Games in Mexico City's high altitude and the contrast was that of brute strength opposed to graceful beauty. At right, Russian wrestler Giesov Jurly demonstrates the fine art of giving a guy a backache to Fidel Guerra of Mexico.

Patty Sims (bottom) of Arcadia, Calif., made a big splash with her perfect form in the women's platform diving event. The Games were held as a prelude to the 1968 Olympiad in Mexico City next October.

Las Vegas, Nev. (AP)—Cut a golf ball in half and see who will give you $3,000 for it. And what would you say if that little hemisphere would make you the leading money-winner for all of 1967 among the professional golfers?

Since a ball is ruled out of bounds only when all of it is beyond the boundary, the tee shot which Jack Nicklaus hit on the 18th hole in Saturday's final round of the Sahara Invitational tournament was ruled playable.

Only half of it, precisely, .840 played the boundary so Nicklaus played it for his 7-270 and the $20,000 first prize.

Steve Spray, in his best PGA finish ever, carded a 271 for $12,000, his best purse ever but still less by $8,000 than the check Nicklaus received. That boosted Jack to $168,998.08 for the campaign and shoved him past Arnold Palmer in the money chase.

United States Open champion Nicklaus now is referred to in some circles as "The Sheik," king of the desert. For of the 27-year old golfer's 25 tournament victories, five have come at Las Vegas—three times in the Sahara and twice in the Tournament of Champions.

Now he heads for golfing in Australia while the other tournament pros, including Palmer, play in the Hawaiian Open starting Thursday. Should Arnie score well and go ahead again in the money battle, Nicklaus will play in the Cajun Classic at Lafayette, La. Otherwise, he'll restrict his tournament play to the World Cup in Mexico City where he teams with Palmer in two weeks.

Palmer finished at even par 284 with a final 72 over the Paradise Valley Country Club course for a $21. He has earned $182,915 this year in official tournament money.

Rhugh Royer from Columbus, Ga., took third place with a 58-270, six strokes behind the winner of a tournament which developed strictly into a two-man race. Frank Beard, 66, Rives McBoe, 69, and Terry Dill, 72, each had 277 to deadlock for fourth place.

conference opposition, defeating Millsaps College 24-7.

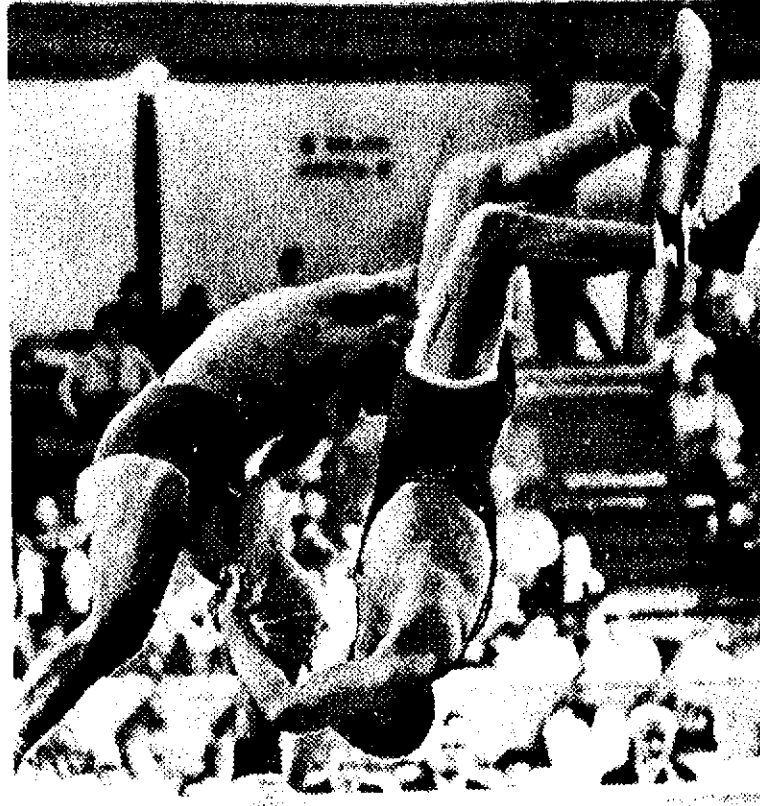

Tate bombed SCA early with a 54-yard touchdown pass to Larry Stanley. Tate scored from the two and then Sabatini busted loose for 29 yards and a touchdown that made it 29-0 at the half.

SCA quarterback Bobby Tiner scored from the seven but Tate came tight back with a 13-yard pass to Tommy Larrance that sewed up the victory early in the fourth period. SCA's Woody Cummins scored from the five with 13 seconds left in the game.

Crouch circled out from two yards out with 3:16 left in the title. Crouch passed for one touchdown and ran for two others. The score came after Jim Boyers as the Tigers defeated the State College of Arkansas 23-21.

The Oakland Raiders shot holes through San Diego's unbeaten American Football League record, then prepared to start ducking themselves.

"Now everybody will be shooting at us," agreed Raider quarterback Darrell Lamontica and Coach John Rauch after Oakland riddled the Chargers 51-10 Sunday and replaced San Diego on top of the Western Division.

The Raiders are 6-1, just ahead of San Diego's 5-1-1. Denver will take aim at Oakland next Sunday, but does not figure to fire anything but blanks after Kansas City crushed the Broncos 52-9 today alive in the West at 4-3.

In other games, the New York Jets protected their Eastern Division lead by overcoming Boston 30-23 while second-place Houston trimmed Buffalo 10-3.

THE GOLDEN RULE, according to Vince Lombardi, is in full evidence in these recent NFL action photos. Green Bay's strategy of do unto others before they do unto you is portrayed, top, by Packer guard Jerry Kramer (64) as he whips a crunching block on a rushing Atlanta Falcon defender and by linebacker Lee Roy Caffey (60) as he attempts to use Minnesota Viking quarterback Joe Kapp as a corkscrew. Kapp managed to keep his head, however, and he and his mates went on to upset the Pack.

Lamar Edges State U by Score 28-23
BEAUMONT, Tex. (AP) — Lamar Tech linebacker Richard Bjerkie fell on a fumble in the Arkansas State University end zone to sew up the Cardinals' 28-23 Southland Conference victory over the Indians.
Both teams were undefeated in conference play prior to the game.
Cecil LaGrone's 15-yard touch down pass to Virgil Payton and Mike Everett's 32-yard field goal had put the Indians ahead 17-14 entering the final period. ASU scored in the final minutes when fullback Steve Gankiewicz plowed over from the three.

U.S. Swim Team One to Beat
by STRATFORD C. JONES
MEXICO CITY (AP) — Coaches of those world swimming powers gathered for the Pre-Olympic Games, which ended Sunday, generally believe the U.S. team will be the one to beat at the 1968 Olympics here, but they expect a decline of U.S. aquatic power in coming years.
American swimmers won 15 gold medals, Russia and East Germany took five each and The Netherlands and Mexico got two apiece.
In over-all competition, Russia won 40 gold medals. The United States was second in unofficial medal tabulations with 21 golds, followed by Japan and Italy with 11 each and East Germany with 10.
Mexico's B team won the final gold medal of the two-week competition Sunday, by finishing first in the modified Cup of Nations Equestrian jumping event. France was second and a mixed team was third. The problem was winning as a team.
"Over-all we should emerge on top. But there are individuals who are tops in other countries; East Germany's Roland Metthes (double gold winner in the backstroke), Holland's Ad Klok (double gold winner in women's butterfly), Canada's Cathy Wainwright, who weren't here for these games, the Russians, who have several good swimmers."
"In different countries there are enough swimmers to hustle us. After Debbie Meyer's performance in the 800-meter freestyle (Miss Meyer, 15, of Santa Clara, Calif., was top individual gold medal winner with three firsts) I'm sure we'll be tough with training."

Vanette Johnson pulled his Arkansas A&M Golden Lions off the playing field with 3:54 left in the third quarter to protest the referee's ruling on a disputed field goal.
The official watching from beneath the goal posts said Nathaniel Pruitt's 45-yard field goal attempt was wide to the right, but the referee overruled him and called it good.
Alcorn scored three times before Arkansas could get on the scoreboard and had picked up a two-point conversion on a pass from Clarence Folliver to Allen Simmons.
Charlie Barnett bulldozed in for a two-point for A&M after James White plunged over from the one to cap a sustained drive of 18 plays.

'Preview' Case 'Won by Censors'
FAYETTEVILLE, Ark. (AP) — University of Arkansas President Dr. David W. Mullins has been criticized for his announcement that publication of the school's literary magazine, Preview, would be financed by a private citizen.
The Arkansas Advocate, a student publication which has been dormant for about two years, said in an unsigned editorial Sunday that Mullins' solution to the controversy is "a victory for those who believe in setting themselves up as censors."
Copies of The Arkansas Advocate were distributed to residence houses on the U of A campus.
Publication of Preview has been held up for more than a year because some authorities consider four poems, contained in the magazine, obscene. Mullins announced Saturday that a private citizen would finance publication of the magazine.
The editorial said Mullins' solution has not resolved the issue but has made the situation "more dangerous."
Freedom of the press in Arkansas and the question of whether or not the state auditor and the university printer have the authority to censor creative writing are the two issues at stake according to the editorial.
A. W. Blake, head of the university printing plant, refused last year to publish the magazine because he considered the poems obscene.
State Auditor Jimmie (Red) Jones recently refused to authorize state funds to pay for the magazine's publication because he said he felt that the poems were in poor taste.
"If Mr. Blake can get away with refusing to print Preview, what is to prevent him from deciding not to print The Engineer (the Engineering School publication) or even The Traveler (the student newspaper) because of the nature of their content?" the editorial asked.
"If Jimmie (Red) Jones is allowed to determine the suitability of creative materials, what is to prevent him from passing on the suitability of textbooks and newspapers and the other publications he lets to state printers?"
"Dr. Mullins may feel that he has resolved this question in the best manner—one that will offend the least number of people. However, he has only avoided an issue which will likely continue to recur again and

Romney Raps L.B.J. in New England
By THE ASSOCIATED PRESS
Michigan Gov. George Romney, seemingly picking up the tempo and stiffening the tenor of his attacks on President Johnson, continues today his five-day swing through New England.
The Republican governor, who has said he'll enter the New Hampshire primary March 12 if he decides to seek the presidency, rested in that state Sunday after launching two strong verbal assaults on Johnson.
In a speech at Burlington, Vt., Romney told an audience of 1,500 Saturday night that Johnson's administration is "discredited and discredited at home and its lack of credibility abroad."
Earlier Romney told a meeting of GOP officials in Manchester, N.H., the nation is headed for trouble because it has "a leader who doesn't tell the truth."

Meanwhile Sen. Frank Church, D-Idaho, who described Johnson as a "deep personal friend," nevertheless said he couldn't pledge right now to back Johnson for re-election.
"That depends on who is running against him," Church said Sunday when asked at a meeting of the Idaho Press Club in Boise about backing Johnson in 1968.
But Church, a persistent war critic, ruled out one GOP candidate.
"I can tell you what I'd do if they nominated Nixon," Church said of the former Republican vice president. "He'd just get us in deeper."
George Wallace, the ex-Alabama governor who says he'll run for president on a third party ticket if neither major party builds a conservative platform, talked on national television of being threatened.
He didn't go into detail about the threats but said he's received them from "revolutionaries, activists and Communists—the same people who want us to lose the war in Vietnam."
Wallace blamed the nation's riots on Communists, anarchists and activists. "There are no underlying causes to burn down a city unless you don't love your country," he said. "Slums and unemployment have nothing to do with it."
He was interviewed in Portland, Ore., for the CBS television program "Face the Nation."
Gov. Ronald Reagan of California, suggested meanwhile a national law cracking down on antidraft, antiwar demonstrators.
"There are plenty of laws to cover them if we were technically in a state of war," said Reagan. "Perhaps there would be a possibility of legislation to implement the same rules re-

 Oswald: "How about some columns on typical good rubber bridge games?"

 Jim: "For a start here's a hand I watched recently. It was the second hand of the rubber. East and West had made game on the first one."

 Oswald: "North and South bid beautifully. North tried to get to game, and South looked at his 12 high card points and quit at three—which is all he could make."

 Jim: "Actually South made an overtrick and asked me whether he or his partner should have bid the game."

 Oswald: "Where did the defense slip—or am I overlooking something?"

 Jim: "You haven't overlooked anything. The defense did slip. South won the club lead with his ace, ruffed a club, returned to his hand with the ace of hearts, led his last club and ruffed with dummy's ten. East overruffed and led a trump. South was in dummy with the ace of trumps. He cashed the ace of diamonds and led a second diamond. East clattered up with the king to drop his partner's queen, and the jack of diamonds became the tenth trick for declarer."

 Oswald: "East's play of the diamond king is typical of what I call rubber bridge carelessness. East could see that declarer was sure of his contract and had lost interest.
A duplicate player would still be worrying about overtricks.
and a good duplicate player would have seen that he had nothing to gain by playing his king of diamonds and would have let the trick ride around to his partner's queen."

 Jim: "A really good duplicate player would. I am not certain that the same play wouldn't occur at some tables if this hand were played in duplicate."

High Tariff Men Fail in Law Attack

By JAMES MARLOW
AP News Analyst
WASHINGTON (AP) — People with a special ax to grind—in this case, foreign trade—have been busy lately which is not unusual. They have been busy all through American history.

In this capitalistic society, where businessmen laud the free enterprise system and plenty of people still denounce any form of government interference, free enterprise has never really operated freely.

When the American government began in 1789 the very first piece of legislation passed by the first Congress was a tariff act putting a tax or restrictions on certain imported goods that might compete here with American products.

Down through the years since then Congress has passed a steady stream of tariff acts, lowering or raising as the mood of the country or the needs of special interests changed.

In the midst of the depression Congress pulled its biggest boner with the 1930 Smoot-Hawley Act which raised tariffs to their highest point in American history. It was a bad time to do it.

Other countries retaliated by raising their tariffs on imports from America just when American industries and producers, hamstrung by the depression, needed to sell their stuff abroad. This, of course, caused a reaction.

And under President Franklin D. Roosevelt in 1934 the United States did an about-face, giving up its high tariff policy to keep out imports and adopting the Trade Agreement Act which called for both sides to make cuts.

This empowered the president to work out agreements with individual countries by which they would reduce their tariffs on American exports and this country could reduce its tariffs on imports by as much as 50 percent.

Congress repeatedly renewed this Trade Agreement Act up to the end of World War II when American thinking turned to a much broader arrangement of tariff agreements among a number of nations.

Congress kept on passing the Trade Agreement Act which, for the protection of American business, had a number of escape clauses letting the United States eliminate or modify an agreement if some American producing group was suffering from foreign competition.

Meanwhile, as had happened before, the mood of the country became more and more protectionist, thus making the Trade Agreement Act look a little dubious as a means for reducing tariffs.

Finally, in 1962 President John F. Kennedy got Congress to put through the Trade Expansion Act whose basic idea—reflecting the desire of American producers at the time—was to expand foreign trade.

While this gave the president more elbow room in making agreements, at the same time it provided many protections for American business, which meant the act in some ways was more liberal, in some more protectionist.

But the idea of multiple agreements grew. And last June the United States and 52 other countries signed an agreement to reduce tariffs on one another, starting next Jan. 1.

By then the American policy of reducing tariffs had reached a point where cuts had averaged 35 percent on 6,000 items. But the fun began after this latest agreement, which needs no congressional approval, was signed.

A number of U.S. industries and producers complained they were hurting from foreign competition. They turned their lobbyists loose on Congress. And one industry after another—textiles, steel, meat, glass, oil, shoes, lead and zinc among others—went before Congress.

They wanted the quotas—the amount of any certain product permitted to be imported here from their foreign competitors—cut down. President Johnson's administration got all worked up.

It warned Congress that foreign nations would retaliate. The United States now exports almost $4 billion more worth of products each year than is imported. The administration predicted foreign retaliation against the kind of protection now sought here could cost this country $3.5 billion in exports.

Johnson would almost certainly veto any bill requiring quota cuts in a broad, perhaps even in a few, number of imports. But he would be reluctant to veto a Social Security bill. So some advocates of the cuts thought it would be a good idea to tack them on the Social Security measure rather than handling them separately.

Some opponents of the cuts argue they are a cry for help from industries that failed in their own efficiency or in keeping up with technological developments. And they warn that the less competition there is from foreign imports, the more Americans will have to pay for the American products.

But Congress, anxious to get home, is unlikely to do anything this year.

Insecticide Victims Buried

By RICH OPPEL
Associated Press Writer
ARCADIA, Fla. (AP) — Seven young victims of insecticide poisoning—whose life insurance policies for $1,000 each were not in force because their father couldn't borrow the $4 premium—were buried Sunday after a $2,000 funeral.

As their small white satin-covered coffins were lowered into two rows of open graves, the children's paternal grandmother, Margaret Bivens of Jacksonville, Fla., cried: Goodbye, little darlings! Goodbye, little darlings!

About one-fourth of the 6,000 people in this small southwest Florida citrus and cattle town crowded into the sweltering high school gymnasium for the funeral.

James Richardson, 32, father of the children, a black cloth heart sewn to his jacket sleeve, sobbed loudly during the service. His wife, Annie Mae, 29, stared blankly at the semicircle of coffins, each topped with a spray of carnations and roses.

When the coffins were opened for the recessional, Mrs. Richardson led the mourners past the dead children, shrieked and collapsed screaming before the body of 6-year-old Susie. Two men carried the mother from the funeral but she was composed again for the burial service at Oakridge Cemetery.

Funeral Director Eugene Hixson said the costs of the funeral, including five hearses and burial plots, was $2,000. About half that amount has been donated to a fund including $189 from a Saturday night high school football game.

Both Richardson and his wife are Negro migrant orange pickers.

Six of the children—aged 2 to 8—died Wednesday after eating a lunch of grits, beans, rice and hog's head. The seventh died after a night in the hospital.

Betty, 8, Alice, 7, and Susie, 6, were stricken in school. Doreen, 5, Vanessa, 4, Dianne, 3, and James Jr., 2, became sick while at home alone.

Investigators from the office of Sheriff Frank E. Cline and State Atty. Frank Schaub have questioned 30 persons in an attempt to learn how the children obtained the deadly insecticide parathion.

Dr. Joseph Davis, Dade County (Miami) medical examiner, is making studies of stomach contents, meal leftovers and other specimens to determine if the parathion was swallowed or absorbed through the skin. It kills both ways, Schaub said. Results may not be known for more than a week.

The investigation focused on discovery of an open two-pound sack of parathion in a shed a day after it had been searched by police. "We want to know who put the parathion in the shed," Cline said.

Gold Supply Gain First in 7 Months

WASHINGTON (AP) — The U.S. gold supply increased during September for the first time in five months despite continued heavy domestic use of the precious metal.

The Federal Reserve Board said today the total gold supply rose by $2 million during the month to $13.08 billion, the first increase since a $50 million advance last April.

Since that time gold has been drained from the U.S. stockpile mainly because of the Middle East crisis and sales to domestic users.

September marked the end of these heavy foreign drains and completed a year in which France bought no American gold. It had been French policy in recent years to convert at least $34 million of her excess dollar holdings into gold each month.

Tiner Wins Meyer Grid Award

LITTLE ROCK (AP) — The Charles T. Meyer Foundation announced Saturday that its September award for excellence in athletics had gone to quarterback Bobby Tiner of State College of Arkansas.

It said the 10 Arkansas sports writers who select each month's recipient had placed fullback Steve Cankiewicz of Arkansas State University second in their balloting, and that tailback Steve Hockersmith of Little Rock High was third.

Others receiving votes were tailbacks Robert Young of Little Rock Central, Rennie Shepherd of Fort Smith Northside and Russell Cody of the University of Arkansas.

Tiner ran for 122 yards and passed for 286 yards and three touchdowns as State College beat Ouachita 23-20 and defeated Troy State, Ala., 26-21 in September.

He had been injured in an automobile accident before the season started, and had been able to practice only three times before the game with Ouachita.

Named For Him

The Bermuda Islands are named after Juan Bermudez, a Spanish navigator who was shipwrecked there in the 16th century with a cargo of hogs which escaped to the shore.

HIGH AND MIGHTY are the new buildings changing the Moscow skyline, but mighty stuffy they are, too. Many of the windows in the new office buildings and apartment houses cannot be opened, causing serious ventilation problems. Most of them lack fans and air conditioning, and entire buildings have reportedly been evacuated for a short time when carbon dioxide built up.

California Brush Fire Rakes Homes

LOS ANGELES (AP)—Thousands of Southern Californians fled from an inferno of wind-driven brush fires today which swept an expensive hillside residential area.

California Division of Forestry officials said 15 homes were known destroyed in the Lemon Heights area southeast of Los Angeles. Flames threatened some 1,000 other homes, they said.

"It looks like another Bel Air fire," said a forestry spokesman, referring to the devastating 1961 blaze which destroyed 450 homes in an exclusive northwest Los Angeles district.

The Bel Air homes, all $50,000-plus residences, were turned into cinders in a 12-hour-long holocaust.

The flames today swept down from the Santa Ana Mountains into several Orange County residential areas in the foothills. Most of the engulfed homes were in the $40,000 to $50,000 range, firemen said.

An estimated 4,000 persons were evacuated from a thousand homes in the Lemon Heights area shortly after dawn.

The fire was the worst of two which have blackened an estimated 30,000 acres since Sunday. That surpassed the 26,000-acre swatch cut two weeks ago by a series of brush fires north of Los Angeles.

The major fire continued to burn in a southwesterly direction toward the more heavily populated suburbs of Orange.

Meanwhile, the other fire in adjacent Riverside County swept down from the San Jacinto Mountains into the San Jacinto Valley. Authorities said "several structures" were involved at the Gilman Hot Springs.

Dermott Man Auto Victim
MONTICELLO, Ark. (AP)—Injuries suffered in an automobile accident Friday claimed the life of Boyd Heffington, 25, of Dermott Saturday.

State Police said Heffington was thrown from his vehicle and crushed beneath it when it left Arkansas 4 and overturned several times about four miles west of McGehee.

He died at a hospital here.

As One Irishman to Another, Says Boyle, Take Off Your Crown!

Onstage: Irish Actor Richard Harris Takes Off King Arthur's Crown and Tells About Himself

By HAL BOYLE
NEW YORK (AP)—"You can't go around disliking the world, can you?" asked Richard Harris, the Irish actor.

At the moment Harris, who has a naturally bubbly soul, was feeling particularly exuberant about life.

It was the morning after the opening here of the screen version of "Camelot," in which Dick plays the key role of King Arthur, the most important of his dramatic career thus far.

Still wearing whiskers, Harris, a strapping 6-foot-3 inch man with intense blue eyes, is physically built to resemble the legendary British monarch. But he looked somewhat out of uniform in a trim-fitting conventional business suit.

"The only thing that annoys me is the question raised by the reviewers as to whether I did my own singing," he remarked.

"Of course I did, I am very, very pleased with my own singing."

Dick turned to writing, and then the theater, after being laid up during late adolescence by a prolonged bout with tuberculosis.

After studying at the London Academy of Music and Dramatic Arts, he sank his own funds into the production of a play, "The Country Girl," which he directed.

"It began to lose money," he recalled blithely, "so I moved out to a cellar to cut down on my living costs."

The play, although it turned out to be a resounding financial flop, did provide Harris with a wife. He married one of the

Rain Until Tuesday for Arkansas

By THE ASSOCIATED PRESS
Two massive high pressure systems covered on a low pressure trough over Arkansas today and squeezed out a downpour that isn't expected to end until Tuesday.

A large high pressure mass of cold air is racing toward the state from Nevada, and the U. S. Weather Bureau at Little Rock said it probably would produce frost over most of the state Tuesday night.

Ozone (Johnson County) reported 3.90 inches of rain during the 24-hour period ending at 7 a.m. today, and several other cities recorded more than three inches. Mena had 3.69 inches, Harrison 3.46 and Devils Knob (Sevier County) 3.25.

Overnight low temperatures ranged from the high 40s to the mid 60s, and highs today were expected to range from the high 50s in the northwest to the high 70s in the southeast.

The Weather Bureau predicted lows in the 50s tonight. Highs Sunday ranged from 67 at Harrison to 80 at Texarkana, El Dorado and Pine Bluff.

Donations of Blood Due Nov. 8

The Red Cross Blood Mobile will be in Hope at the Red River Vocational School from 10 a.m. to 6 p.m. Wednesday, November 8. The quota for Hempstead County for the period July 1, 1967, through June 30, 1968, is 536 pints. Nov. 8 will be the first time this area has had an opportunity to give blood toward the 1967-1968 quota. Summer uses of blood are generally light and so far only 84 pints of blood have been used but during the winter months there are increased demands for blood and it is the duty of the citizens of the county to give blood in order to have the quota met and available as it is called upon.

O'Key New Manager at Little Rock

LITTLE ROCK (AP)—Clifford O'Key, 44, city manager at Norman, Okla., since April 1965, has been appointed city manager of Little Rock, effective Dec. 11, Mayor Martin Borchert announced Saturday.

O'Key succeeds Anell Douthitt, who resigned recently to become assistant city manager at San Antonio, Tex.

Borchert said O'Key would receive $23,500 a year, $2,000 more than Douthitt was paid.

Switch Lock Broken, Train Crash Kills 1

NORFOLK, Ark. (AP)—Baxter County Sheriff Emmett Edmonds said Sunday someone apparently broke a padlock on a sliding switch, causing a Missouri Pacific Railroad freight train derailment which killed one person and injured two others.

The victim was identified as Archie Copeland, 46, of Memphis, a fireman on the train.

A. W. Rees, superintendent of Missouri Pacific's operations at Little Rock, said the accident was very similar to one that happened at the same place in January of last year. He said two persons were injured at that time when the lock on the switch was apparently broken off with a rock.

Rees said the train was No. 201, enroute from Kansas City to Memphis. He said members of the train's crew saw that the sliding switch was open as the train approached Norfolk.

He said the crew set the brakes and that S. K. Reid, the engineer, and Copeland jumped from the train.

Rees said the train hit some "bunk" cars which were on the siding.

The cars are used by employees of the firm between runs. Rees said the train had 46 loaded cars and 12 empties and that 12 cars and four diesel units were derailed. He said the diesel units did not turn over.

One of the freight cars was lying across Arkansas 5 and authorities threw up roadblocks to ease the traffic through town.

Authorities said the streets were strewn with gasoline and oil. One tank car filled with gasoline and one filled with oil reportedly ruptured.

Rees said one member of the crew told him the lock was broken off of the switch and that a rock, which apparently had been used to beat the lock, was found near the switch along with the lock.

War Support Rally Draws 25,000

WAKEFIELD, Mass. (AP)—A 19-year-old high school student who organized a patriotic rally that drew a police estimate of 25,000 persons to the town common says he hopes it will touch off nationwide public demonstrations in support of American servicemen.

"I hope this will spark a tidal wave of enthusiasm across the nation," Paul P. Christopher Jr. said Sunday after serving as master of ceremonies for a 75-minute program of prayers and speeches.

Flag-waving youths, including grammar school youngsters and members of three motorcycle gangs, interrupted the speakers with boisterous cheers and chanting of patriotic slogans.

Although Police Chief J. Merritt Wenzel's estimate of a 25,000 turnout was about one-fourth what Christopher had said he hoped for, the Wakefield High School senior termed the rally "a complete success" when he met with newsmen.

Cong Unit Beaten Near Cambodia

By GEORGE ESPER
Associated Press Writer
SAIGON (AP)—U.S. infantrymen surprised a Viet Cong company near the Cambodian border today and it was all but wiped out by artillery, napalm and aerial bombs, a military spokesman reported.

A spokesman for the 1st Infantry Division said it was believed 80 enemy troops were killed in the battle about 72 miles northwest of Saigon near where a furious 14-hour battle raged Sunday. U.S. losses were put at three dead and three wounded.

In the air war, U.S. fighter bombers carried their furious campaign against the heartland of North Vietnam through its sixth straight day Sunday, battering targets near the chief port of Haiphong.

Racing against the approaching monsoons, Navy pilots hammered the Cat Bi MIG air base, the Chi Lai transshipment point, and a barge repair yard that was hit for the first time. All were within seven miles of the center of Haiphong.

A spokesman said the weather was beginning to close in over North Vietnam, which will provide a protective blanket, but Navy pilots were able to mount strikes along the coast.

5 Die on State Roads in Weekend

By THE ASSOCIATED PRESS
Five persons died in traffic accidents on the Arkansas highways during the weekend period which began Friday at 6 p.m.

State Police identified the victims as 72-year-old Oscar McClure of Biscoe (Prairie County), 20-year-old Betty Jo Lyon of Heth (St. Francis County), 13-year-old Ronald Gene Kelly of Van Buren, Mrs. Bettie Sue Carter, 37, of near Junction City and Leon Turner of Junction City.

Officers said McClure was killed Sunday about six miles north of Biscoe on Arkansas 33. Authorities said McClure had just gotten out of a truck driven by Clinton Jones, 43, of Biscoe, when Jones accidentally backed over him with the truck.

Miss Lyon was killed Saturday night in a two-car crash on U.S. 70, about 18 miles east of Forrest City. Officers said she was a passenger in a car driven by Richard Daniel, 20, of West Memphis. Authorities said Daniel's vehicle collided with a vehicle driven by Larry White, 22, of Prator (Crittenden County).

Kelly, son of Mr. and Mrs. Vernon Kelly of Van Buren, was killed Saturday after the tractor he was driving went into a ditch and overturned.

Mrs. Carter and Turner were killed in a two-car collision on U.S. 167 Friday night about two miles north of Junction City.

'Honest Man' Says HH of Vietnamese

By PETERARNETT
Associated Press Writer
SAIGON (AP)—Vice President Hubert H. Humphrey made a whirlwind visit to South Vietnam's embattled countryside today and praised a Vietnamese official who told him corruption is hurting one of the major government programs aimed at winning the war.

"Here's a man that can talk frankly and openly, which is exactly why Americans are here, so that the Vietnamese people can speak freely," said Humphrey of Maj. Nguyen Be, the commander of the Revolutionary Development Training Center at the seaside resort city of Vung Tau.

Humphrey stopped off at the center during a series of field trips that took him to see troops of the U.S. Riverine Force in the Mekong Delta and a model Vietnamese village.

The vice president arrived in Vietnam Sunday to represent President Johnson at the inauguration Tuesday of President-elect Nguyen Van Thieu.

Humphrey expressed confidence South Vietnam "will persevere in the face of aggression" and said he brought "a reaffirmation of the solemn pledge of American support for the Vietnamese people and their new government."

Maj. Be, a former Communist battalion commander who came over to the Saigon government, told Humphrey that the biggest problem that the massive, expensive Revolutionary Development program faces is lack of understanding at the provincial and district levels.

Corruption at these levels "is hurting our program," he told the vice president. The U.S. Central Intelligence Agency subsidizes the program, whose specially trained teams try to cater to the needs of contested villages and develop loyalty in them to the Saigon government.

"What I liked about the statement, Humphrey told newsmen later, "is that a man can stand up and say that. This proves it is a free society. I bet you that can't be said in North Vietnam and I know it can't be said in Communist states."

The vice president said he found good omens in Vietnam, particularly in the Revolutionary Development program.

"Whether or not it is all going exactly according to Harvard University standards or the standards of the University of California I do not know," he said.

Hospital's Release Is Sustained

LITTLE ROCK (AP)—The Arkansas Supreme Court upheld today a resolution adopted by the Arkansas Baptist State Convention to release the Arkansas Baptist Medical Center in Little Rock from the control of the convention.

The high court, with Chief Justice Carleton Harris not participating, thus affirmed a ruling by Chancellor Kay Matthews of Pulaski County.

The resolution severed all connection between the convention and the medical center. The friendly court suit was filed to determine whether the resolution violated the state constitution.

In other decisions, the Supreme Court:

— Affirmed Circuit Court in Jackson County in refusing to grant a writ of habeas corpus to Andrew Jackson Rowe, who is serving consecutive prison sentences of 21 years for robbery and seven years for burglary.

— Affirmed Circuit Court in Columbia County in the conviction of Willie Lee Paschal of Magnolia for knowingly possessing stolen whisky.

— Affirmed Chancery Court in Lee County in upholding the Lee County Board of Education's dismissal of a complaint that the board had no jurisdiction to consolidate the Moro School District B with the Marianna district.

— Ruled 6-1 that an injured workman is not entitled to a continuous supply of orthopedic shoes because they are not included as "crutches and apparatus." The decision reversed a decision in Circuit Court in Bradley County which had held in favor of the workman, Billy Duran, who was injured in 1961 while working for Shelby Electric Co.
